For some time conditions have been growing worse in Northern Mexico and numerous depredations have been committed along the perder. Some of the appeals, however, came from sections as far as 150 miles from the border.

A dispatch to the State Department today stated that the entire federal garrison at Ajune was massacred by the rebels on the 4th instant, and that revolutionary activity in the State of Guanajusto is growing. The rebels are also more active in Michoacan.

It was reported to the State Department to-day that an extraordinary sestion of the Mexican Senate has been called to take action relative to the revolution. Only meagre details of this action were received.

The situation at Nacozari has improved and telegraphic communication with Douglas has been restored. General Rogas, a federal commander, has returned there with seven hundred men.

Discouraging news, however, comes from the South of Mexico, where the wandering rebel bands show no signs of weakening, but rather become bolder in their operations, the entire federal garrison at Ajuno having been massacred by the rebels last Wednesday.

There is a temporary shortage of infuntry in the Department of Texas, and Steever to-day, in answer to his appeamore infantry at El Paso, that he would have to accept cavalry instead.

A patrol guard has been established in the Big Bend country by Major Cameron with Troop C, of the 14th Cavalry. Major Cameron has been placed in charge of the American forces in that territory, and if reinforcements are necessary the 9th Cav alry will be sent from Cheyenne.

A special army board headed by Colonel Kernan, assistant adjutant general, will visit El Paso and Douglas, Ariz., early next month to investigate the claims of Americans living near the boundary line who were hurt during the firing across the line in the attacks on Juarez and Agua Prieta last year. All claims resulting from the Madero revolution should be sent to Washington, according to Colonel Kernan.
